

Fauna's Colourblind Chess

Enter Fauna.

Fauna is the life force of everything.

Fauna animates the world in the form of inanimate life imitating animate life; each piece is infused with unique essence connecting with other essences. When Fauna moves a chess pieces, Fauna is moving another Fauna. Xe may be moving xirself or an extension of xir ego, perhaps an archetype, or xe may be moving other Fauna (with or without knowing it so).

All life, inanimate or animate, has more than one meaning. First, what that entity is factually; and second, what that entity is truthfully.

When we play a game of chess in black and white, so we live a life in monochrome. Fauna plays chess with light, so xe is effervescent.
